Minister's Musings

Faith Development for Children in Uncertain Times

As I sit to write these words, it is a perfect summer day. A cool front has cleared out the smoke from the western wildfires, and my windows are open to take in the pleasant breeze. Yesterday's meeting of the Pandemic Policy Team (PPT), however, still casts a shadow on my mood. We are returning to an indoor mask requirement, which is inconvenient but certainly doable. What weighs on me heaviest is the prospect of planning for our children's faith development programs for 2021-22. As a new variant - and not the last new variant, for sure - circulates, more contagious than ever, and apparently more likely to impact younger people, I am aware that we have children now who were born during the pandemic who are now walking, talking... and have never been in a parent's lap at church. The children who were preschoolers when we shut down the campus may have dim memories of church, and our elementary age kids may remember church as something they did in the remote past, when they were "little." A cohort of young teens missed the human sexuality education program, Our Whole Lives (OWL) during the year we would usually offer it, and are now not such young teens anymore.

I hope that together, we can get creative and make space for our children to reconnect this fall. The PPT has recommended that we plan an outdoor program for children, and I'm excited to reimagine faith development that uses our outdoor campus. If you have a love of the outdoors and can imagine sharing your love of the natural world with children, please send me an email! If you like to identify plants, or bugs, or birds... I believe it is important for us to teach our children the names of things, so that the natural world is deeply familiar to them. Within the shadow of COVID, there is also an opportunity to look at faith development differently, and to create a program that will meet our children's social, emotional, and spiritual needs while keeping them connected to our church community. My email is lyn@concorduu.org, cell phone (603) 568-8084. If this sounds exciting to you, please be in touch!

Pandemic Policy Team Update: Masks Required

In light of increasing COVID transmission and the Delta variant, but relatively high vaccination rates, we've re-created our COVID gathering policy.

Currently Merrimack County has "Moderate" transmission (increased from Minimal in late July.) Our updated policy during Moderate transmission is:

- Masks required for everyone older than 2
- No capacity limits or sign ups required to attend worship
- Only well-ventilated rooms will be used (Sanctuary, Fellowship Hall.)

- When children's programs resume in the fall, they will be offered outside only (if transmission remains Moderate.)
- No additional rentals

The mask requirement is a tough pill to swallow, but it makes it possible for us to be together as a community - all ages, all abilities, regardless of eligibility for vaccination. For the UUA's thoughts about masking in a covenantal community, go to <https://www.uua.org/leadership/library/masking-guidelines>

The Parlor, Library, and most other rooms are still CLOSED to groups due to inadequate ventilation. The staff and PPT beg your cooperation as none of us enjoy being the "enforcer." We hope people will follow the rules in the spirit of community. Don't hesitate to talk to any member of the Pandemic Policy Team if you have questions or concerns: Jeff Fetter, BJ Entwisle, Belinda Nerl, Jim Schlosser, Heidi Page, Lea Smith, Rev. Lyn Marshall, and Rev. Michael Leuchtenberger.

8/1/2021 “Making Space” | Jeanne Ann Whittington

What would it be like to say "no" to something to make space for... nothing? For rest, reflection, space to "be" instead of "do"? Jeanne Ann Whittington will explore her choice to take a sabbatical from teaching yoga this summer—and how this choice has rippled out into wider ponderings about how we choose how to spend our time, the beauty of not rushing, and how to value being and doing equally in our lives.

8/6/2021 "Lammas Ritual" with Earth-Centered Spirituality Group 7 PM | Grove

8/8/2021 “Great Poems for Tough Times” | Joanna Henderson

When the going gets tough, the tough get... poetry? Joanna Henderson will explore how great poems help us be more resilient in the face of hardship.

8/15/2021 “A Simple Running Stitch” | Rev. Nell Newton

What truly binds us all together? Many interpret the word “religion” to mean “bind together again”. But, the most practical, daily, common, and all around you binding is created by sewing. Most of us don’t have to think about sewing, so let’s see what happens when we look and look again at what is holding us all together!

8/22/2021 “Accessibility & Inclusion in Beloved Community” | Rev. Lyn Marshall

Please see your eBulletin for weekly descriptions through August.

Save the Date!

On Saturday, September 18, the Contemplative Practices Group is delighted to host guest teacher Jaya Rudgard for an online retreat, “The Wisdom of Playfulness: A Day of Movement and Meditation.” The retreat, which will run from 9:30 AM to 4 PM on Zoom, will include practices from the Insight Meditation tradition and the ancient art of Qigong to refresh the body, heart and mind. There may also be the option to join with others at the church for a hybrid experience (Jaya will be on Zoom, coming to us from England)—more on that later!

Jaya, who lives in the UK, has been meditating since 1984. For 8 years she was ordained as a nun in the Thai forest tradition, and she has subsequently trained as an Insight Meditation teacher at Spirit Rock in California and Insight Meditation Society in Massachusetts. She has extensive experience in teaching MBSR, MBCT and Mindful Self-Compassion, and leads retreats for teachers and teachers-in-training as well as for the general public. And she is a certified Qigong teacher! She is looking forward to sharing a day of fun, accessible and restorative practice with us.

This retreat is ideal for both beginners and experienced students—all are welcome. We'll have more information about how to sign up closer to September, but for now, save the date!

Endowment Update

In 2020, the endowment finished its multi-year initial transition into SRI (Socially Responsibly Invested) funds. Both our equity and fixed income allocations are finally 100% in funds that have investment policy statements that align with the mission of our church. You will not find these funds making investments in companies principally involved in War, Tobacco/Vice, or Fossil Fuels.

Never in the multi-decade long history of the endowment has it been more aligned with the church's values. That said, we are NOT done with this effort. We will continue to pursue funds (perhaps new/better funds) that align with our mission. Refining our investments as the space has broadened and offers us more excellent choices.

Trust that this has been a large focus of the committee, that this focus continues, and we welcome input and suggestions at any time,

Rob Fleischman, Trust Funds Committee Chair

INVITATION: You are cordially invited to take part in two UU Grounds Gatherings. Be among your UU friends and family to partake in group activities and socialization.

Seriously, we do have some grounds upkeep to be done - one that needs to be done and the other that would be nice to be done, both at noonish after church. Come when you can.

Aug. 8 (rain date Aug. 15)

- Tackle as much bittersweet as we can before it blossoms and goes to seed. Bring clippers, loppers, gloves.
- Clean debris off the grate covering the drain at Pleasant St., where the stream should go under the road. It did its heavy-rain overflow thing on July 18th. Bring drain-cleaning tools. (This can also be done on your own time, if you let me know when.)

Aug. 22 (rain date Aug 29)

- Tidy up all around for our ingathering Sunday on Sept. 12th. One tedious job will be digging weeds from between the concrete out front. Bring your favorite grounds-cleaning tools and gloves.

And, finally, does anyone have a heavy-duty power washer that you can help us use on the east entrance concrete to try to clean it up? Any time you're available.

Please email me at franphilippe38@gmail.com to make your "reservation". You will be rewarded with refreshments.

Thank you in advance.

Fran Philippe, Grounds

UU SOFTBALL

The games are always on Mondays at 6:00 at the old State Hospital grounds field off Pleasant Street.

Come cheer on our team! We look sharp in our new uniform tie-dye shirts!

Visitors During the Summer

Did you grow up in the 60's at the church?

Do you remember having classes gather in the Chapel?

Then, you must remember the Director of Religious Education in the 60s, Jeannette Perron. Well, her grown children (Alison, Jack, Julie, and Frank) met at the church to walk through a little memory lane together on Wednesday, July 21. They were surprised to see the same carpeting in the sanctuary and parlor! They liked the new painting in the halls. As they walked the halls reminiscing, they were very happy to have that moment together and they say "Hello".

You now are invited to schedule your covenant group meetings using Fellowship Hall, the front courtyard, or back patio. . Please schedule your church meetings through Heidi@ConcordUU.org to assure space is available. Here's a letter from a Covenant group that met for the first time face-to-face.

"It was SO nice seeing our covenant group up close and personal at our Covenant Group meeting at the Church today, after a year and a half of Zooms. Singing a song together (with masks), reading the opening and closing in unison-- things we took for granted preCOVID--felt SO good. And sharing our heartfelt thoughts in person again made me realize how much I treasure our group. --In friendship, Doreen"

Summer Fun

“A Return: From Online to In-Person & Hybrid Meetings, Thanks to the UU Church of Concord”

By the Augustine Fellowship

For almost 25 years, the Augustine Fellowship has met every Sunday evening in Concord’s Unitarian Universalist Church—that is until COVID-19. When asked to write an article in the parish newsletter about “how it was support-wise going from in-person meetings at the church to online and now getting back to a hybrid method (of meetings),” our members had varied responses.

Before we share those responses, the Augustine Fellowship would like to express profound gratitude to the UU Church of Concord and its members, ministers, and staff for allowing us to meet at the Church. These two and a half decades of Sunday evening meetings—now over 1,300—have helped us be a vital source of support for several hundred men and women in New Hampshire. The Augustine Fellowship welcomes any person who believes he or she may be or is addicted to sex or love. Like Alcoholic Anonymous, members of the Augustine Fellowship work the Twelve-Step Program of Recovery, relying on our Higher Power and each other for strength, hope, and support.

The transition from in-person to online meetings at the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic was, as it surely was for many, hard for us at first. Said one long-time member, “I had no prior experience with Zoom, so it was a pretty steep learning curve. We were mostly all in the same boat. Now we’re quite comfortable—we learned rapidly and shared our new knowledge with each other. When we returned to the Church, most of us brought laptops and other devices to continue connecting with those attending at home. It’s working quite well.”

Thanks in part to the Church’s upgraded Wi-Fi and special accommodations, the Augustine Fellowship’s once in-person only meetings are now hybrid. For those who live far away or have scheduling conflicts, the flexibility afforded by being able to meet online is a blessing. “We’re trying to heal ourselves, our partners, and our relationships,” said one member. “Reducing the impact of something as small as missing Sunday dinner is significant.” Another member, originally from New Hampshire’s Lakes region and now living in the Midwest, now often joins us online.

As for the quality of the Fellowship’s new hybrid meetings, so far so good. “I felt the same connection,” said one member, “and felt more engaged because I had a very quiet place with no distraction.” Still, others retain a strong preference for meeting face to face and were more than happy to return to meeting at the Church. “Thankfully, your cat is no longer parading across your keyboard. Now I can concentrate on what you’re saying instead of anticipating the cat’s next move,” one member added with a smile last week.

Thank you UU Church of Concord for your continued support of the Augustine Fellowship and welcoming us back!

Pandemic Policy Team

COVID Update for Sunday Church Goers

The Pandemic Policy Team (PPT) will now require all Sunday church goers to wear a mask while in church.

On Wednesday July 28 the CDC updated guidance to require indoor masking of all individuals (whether vaccinated or not) in areas with Substantial or High levels of community transmission. Currently Merrimack County is showing Moderate level of community transmission but our neighboring count Belknap is showing Substantial level. CDC is also recommending universal indoor masking for all teachers, staff, students and visitors to schools, regardless of vaccination status.

While Merrimack does not currently have Substantial or High transmission, we feel that out of respect and concern for our older members (at higher risk) and our children (not yet eligible for vaccination) it is best for all to be masked while in church. We anticipate that this advice may change in the future as community conditions evolve and new science becomes available.

The PPT wanted to put in a strong word for all eligible persons to be vaccinated. We discussed but will not require vaccination for participation in church events at this time. The available science is very clear about the safety and protective benefit of all currently available COVID vaccines. To protect oneself, one's family and other church members, we strongly encourage vaccination for all who are eligible.

If anyone is having difficulty accessing a vaccine, please let us know and we will help. If anyone would like to (privately) express concerns or discuss vaccination issues, please feel free to contact the PPT through the Church Office staff.

We welcome comments and feedback about our Pandemic Policies.

Jim Schlosser for the Pandemic Policy Team

Notice:

Are you excited about seeing people again in the sanctuary? Would you like to help in a small way to make our church services run smoothly? If so, please consider volunteering as an usher. We need several more people to help in this role each Sunday, a commitment that involves a minimal amount of time and responsibility. Please contact Ann Hoey at AnnM439@hotmail.com for more information.

NOTES of CHANGE

Our Chimney is Repaired

by Gary Schroeder, Building Committee Rep.

Thanks to Keith Mcleod and his team from Mcleod Masonry our beloved, architecturally designed chimney above the Parlor fireplace is now fully sealed and rain proofed!

The original design allowed rainwater to enter from the open sides and seep down to the basement and building roof, causing water damage in several locations. Their solution was to add a new cap to the inside of the chimney that wraps around the existing ducts and closes them off from any rain. The cap is much thicker than the old one and is angled in both directions to direct rainwater out of the chimney. They also sealed cracked bricks throughout the chimney and sealed the base of the chimney from roof leaks, plus doing a great cleanup job on the roof and chimney bricks.

The first photo shows the construction supports around the chimney and new seals at its base. The second is a photo of the new cap and additions to all three vents to get their openings well above the cap. The top of the cap is angled downward from the center so rainwater can drain out easily. Great work!

They also checked out the fireplace vent with Loren Hill; it is functional but not recommended for use as it could cause a fire hazard.

Creating a Listening Community: Restorative Circles Facilitator Training

During our July 25 worship service, John Warner and Sarah-Elizabeth Anderson talked about how our church's listening and conflict resolution programs over the past decade have been "tools for actually carrying out this difficult commitment" to "acceptance of the worth and dignity of those who disagree with us." Sarah Elizabeth now teaches private classes in these methods, and is offering two classes on Zoom this fall.

An invitation to Members and Friends to explore how listening for understanding allows us to become more empathetic in our relationships, to engage conflict, learn about ourselves and to experience the practice of reflective listening. Youth ages 12 and up are encouraged to join us!

Tuesday, August 24 - October 5th 6:00 - 8:30 PM EDT (Please sign up by Sunday, August 22nd)

Tuesday October 19 - November 23rd 6:00 - 8:30 PM EDT (Please sign up by Sunday, October 17th)

Fees on a Sliding scale $77 - $222 for the six weeks. First session is open to all who would like to be introduced to the Listening Aspects of Restorative Circles, suggested $10 - $30. Scholarships are available, please contact Sarah-Elizabeth directly for more information.

Too often, conflict arises and gets swept under the rug because of conflict aversion. After a few months, years, or sometimes a decade, a conflict that came up over coffee can burst out during a committee meeting or gathering of friends or co-workers. This creates challenges where the individuals in conflict have different opinions, which breaks down the decision making process, friendship or working relationships.

The Restorative Circle process is based on reflective listening, that is making sure whoever speaks is heard and understood. The facilitator meets with every person (Pre-Circle) prior to gathering the whole community for the conversation (Circle). In the Circle, the community co-creates a new path forward. At a future date, the community meets together (Post-Circle) to check in on how the plan is working. During the process the facilitator is supported by other experienced Restorative Circle facilitators.

Join Sarah-Elizabeth Anderson, Restorative Circles facilitator and trainer along with Wendy Weirick, of Chattanooga, TN for a journey exploring, listening, how we listen, what gets in the way of listening, practice listening for understanding and explore how we can learn by engaging conflict.

REBOOT Committee Working Hard

Volunteers Make the World Go Round | THANK YOU

A Reboot Team formed in late spring to spruce up the building for its post-pandemic "reboot." The team includes Fran Philippe, Bob Lyon, Loren Hill, Mandy Nason, Wendy Olson, and Ann Kontak.

It is so nice that our building is open and getting spruced up for the coming Fall. There is so much happening every day. We had the pews moved on Sunday, July 18, with the help of some new visitors and members of the church; prepping and painting in the halls; signs being hung; and rooms getting organized and updated with technology for our hybrid get together. Thank you everyone who has an afternoon, evening, or an hour to come in and do a piece of the many areas needing some attention. If you see a particular project going on that you'd like to help with, reach out to the church office and we'll connect you with the leader of that area.

Join us for a rich and comprehensive webinar on Reparations and how UUA New England Region congregations are engaging in this important work. Inspired by the recommendations of the Commission on Institutional Change in the Widening the Circle of Concern report, this webinar will highlight Reparations within Unitarian Universalism as a theological imperative. It will also invite congregations into examining implications for accounting and redressing injustices as well as opportunities to engage the labor of repair together.

In the Fall, the New England Regional staff will be convening congregations with Reparations Task Forces or Teams for an in-depth Reparations Praxis Community to support and challenge each other in their efforts.

NOTE TO ALL ATTENDEES:

This program will be offered in webinar format and be less interactive than you may be used to from our other offerings. The content will be rich and complex; but we will not use breakout groups or small group exercises. We encourage you to plan ahead for post-processing and integration in your congregations or communities.

All registrants will receive the recording.

REGISTRATION FEE:

$10 per person

Each person who wishes to attend should register individually. There are no team or group registrations for this event.

If these fees are prohibitive even to the congregation, please contact us at newengland@uua.org. We do not want cost to keep anyone away.

REGISTRATION CLOSES: Monday, August 2 or maximum capacity (300).

CANCELLATIONS & REFUNDS:

If you need to cancel a registration before the event, please contact us as early as possible, by one week before the event at the latest, and a refund will be provided less a $5.00 administrative fee. Refunds will not be available after the event for non-attendance. We ask for your understanding in respecting this policy, which supports our organizational efforts and expenses.

Solidarity Walk for Immigrant Justice

---HELP is NEEDED with 9/23 Lunch Preparation!

Each year activists for immigrant justice complete a 3-day walk to the ICE detention facility in Dover to bring awareness to the need for greater justice in our state system. The Epsom Democrats are hosting lunch on day-2 of this year's Solidarity Walk for Immigrant Justice. We'll offer bagged lunches on Thursday, September 23rd for 30-50 Immigrant Solidarity walkers. We hope to set up at the Epsom Library but are waiting for final confirmation of the location.

Volunteers are needed to donate funds to purchase food & paper goods, shop for supplies, and prepare lunch items. The lunches will include a choice of wraps and sandwiches, fruit, chips, cookies and canned/bottled beverages. Help is needed with advanced sandwich/wrap preparation and cookie baking, both of which can be done in your own home. There will also be a group prep event at the home of Kim Gillis in Epsom, on the morning of 9/23. Support for set-up and clean-up at the lunch are needed too!

Please contact Kim Gillis at kgillis@live.com or (603) 892-4271 for more information or to pitch-in on this worthy cause! All aspects of hosting the lunch offer fun opportunities to be of service in the community and support immigrant justice, so please join us in whatever way you can!
